

Worker's Compensation

Practice Overview

Workers'-compensation laws serve at least two goals. First, they compensate employees who are injured, disabled, or killed in workplace accidents via a fixed schedule. Second, they protect employers and co-workers from tort claims and runaway jury verdicts.

Jones Obenchain lawyers regularly act for both employers and employees in workers'-compensation matters. Our attorneys are recognized leaders in the field who bring a practical approach to resolving work-injury claims expeditiously and fairly.
